

Learning Math...

Starts before your child goes to school!

Your child's math skills start at home by giving them the foundation they need before heading off to school. Learning math starts with your baby and throughout the toddler and preschooler years!

Check out these link for more ideas to include math in your everyday activities at home:

zero to three canada - Bing

Games For Babies That Build Math Skills - Raise Smart Kid

Play Based Math Activities for Toddlers - My Bored Toddler

Easy Math Activities for Preschoolers to Do at Home or School | Fun-A-Day! \(fun-a-day.com\)

Baby

Peek-a-boo, Patty-cake, music/rhythm, rhymes & fingerplays, building and knocking down blocks, simple puzzles, sorting & stacking.

Toddler

Counting (steps, stairs, buttons on shirt), shapes (find shapes, inside & outside), filling containers, following simple instructions, What comes first, second, third?, sorting (clothes, toys, groceries), singing and music.

Preschooler

Counting & matching number of objects to number, shapes & sizes, simple measuring, following simple recipe with help from adult, patterns (music & objects), more & less, dramatic play (store), puzzles, recognize words on, in, on top.

Early ON

Child and Family Centre

City of Kawartha Lakes & County of Haliburton